DCRM 2025

The Dutch Society of Rehabilitation Physicians (VRA) is organizing the DCRM on November 6 and 7, 2025, at the Beatrix Theater in Utrecht.

Dutch healthcare is under pressure due to increasing demand, staff shortages, and long waiting times. These challenges are also felt in rehabilitation medicine. This calls for a critical look at the effectiveness and value of healthcare activities: just because something can be done, does it need to be done?

This year's DCRM conference is centered around the theme: "Less is more? Meaningful rehabilitation care for the patient." This theme is sometimes seen as a call for limitation, but in reality, it's about improvement. Less, but more targeted care not only means more efficient use of resources—it also leads to better care for the patient. No one benefits from unnecessary or meaningless treatment. Patients themselves want care that meets their needs and genuinely improves their quality of life. Together, we will explore how rehabilitation medicine can become even more purposeful and meaningful.

During the conference, we offer a wide range of workshops, poster sessions, and mini-symposia where we collaboratively examine how to further enhance rehabilitation care. There will also be an interactive debate session where we engage in dialogue about the future of meaningful rehabilitation. Inspiring keynote speakers will share their vision and challenge us to critically reflect on the way we work.

We warmly invite rehabilitation physicians, researchers, residents in rehabilitation medicine, medical specialists, and other healthcare professionals to submit abstracts for workshops, mini-symposia, posters, or oral presentations. In addition, we challenge everyone to take a critical look at their own daily work: which activities truly add value? What could be done differently?

We look forward to welcoming you in person at DCRM 2025 at the Beatrix Theater in Utrecht!

Inspiring programme

The Scientific Committee has done its outmost effort to present an inspiring programme to facilitate the discussion for new ideas in research, education and clinical practice of rehabilitation medicine, not only in the Netherlands but also globally. The scientific programme will cover a diverse range of topics. Renowned keynote speakers are invited. The large number of workshops and mini-symposia and free paper sessions during these two days will guarantee a broad variety of interesting scientific topics. During the PhD thesis session the most interesting results of valuable scientific work is presented. A debate session where the pro and cons regarding a central theme within Rehabilitation Medicine will be organized in which delegates are invited to think out aloud and share their views. And last but not least very interesting posters will be presented in the meeting area where participants are invited to discuss the results of the high quality research that has been performed within rehabilitation medicine.

Please, keep a close look on our website for more information.

Networking breaks

Breaks allow participants enough time for networking and visiting the exhibition. Catering is placed in the exhibition area, to guarantee a good flow of participants to our exhibitors.

Social Event

On Thursday evening, the traditional congress dinner with music entertainment, will give all participants and exhibitors the opportunity to meet colleagues in an informal setting. Sponsors will be informed on the registration procedures.

Accreditation

Accreditation will be applied for physicians in rehabilitation medicine and for physician assistants.

Participants & target audience

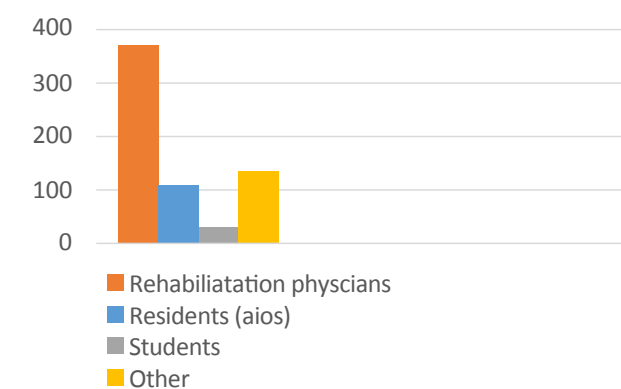

A wide range of professionals such as physicians, psychologists, physiotherapists, human movement scientists and related specialists working in the field of rehabilitation are invited to join us for this highly interactive and interdisciplinary conference. We expect at least 650 participants.

Sponsorship opportunities

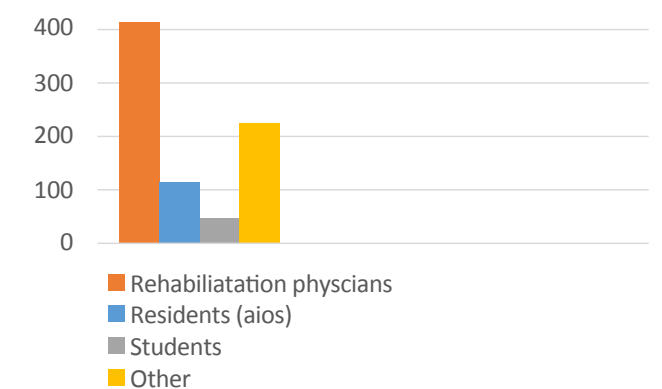

We cordially invite you to sponsor our annual congress Live in November 2025. The DCRM 2025 offers great opportunities to expose your activities and/or products to rehabilitation professionals. We have outlined all the sponsorship and exhibition possibilities in this document.

Terms and conditions congress DCRM 2025

Article 1. General

1. These terms and conditions apply to any agreement between the Stichting DCRM and the exhibitor of the exhibition on the congress of the DCRM 2025.
2. The Stichting DCRM and the Netherlands Society of Rehabilitation Medicine are responsible for organization and implementation of the congress of the DCRM 2025.

Article 2. Participation

1. Participation to DCRM congresses as exhibitor is only possible through written notification.
2. The DCRM can deny registrations without reason.

Article 3. Registration and payment

1. Remunerations for sponsor activities are listed in the sponsor agreement, of which these conditions are an integral part.
2. The registration is final only after the DCRM has received the signed sponsor agreement in return.
3. If the participating exhibitor does not meet the rent or any other costs, entirely and/or timely, the DCRM is entitled to declare the sponsor agreement as nullified. In this case the participating exhibitor is obliged to pay compensation for damages equal to the rent and including additional costs, without prior notice or judicial intervention being required. In this case the participant also forfeits any right to a refund of the fees or rents paid or on compensation for damages in any form or from any cause that was suffered. All costs of recovering failing payment, including both judicial and extrajudicial costs of a legal counsel of the DCRM and the costs incurred by the DCRM for recovery of the amount payable, shall be at the account of the participating exhibitor.

Article 4. Dissolution agreement

1. In case of cancellation of an agreement, exhibitor is required to pay: - until 4 months before the Congress date 50% of the owed invoice amount; until 2 months before the Congress date 70% of the owed invoice amount; - until 6 weeks before the congress 70%, less than 6 weeks 100% of the owed invoice amount. If an exhibitor cancels participation, exhibitor is required to notify the DCRM in writing. The date of receipt serves as starting point for the cancellation.
2. The DCRM reserves the right to make changes to the date and/or opening hours indicated in the notices, the supplementary information and sponsor agreement. In this case the sponsor agreement will remain in force. If the congresses cannot take place for any reason, the sponsor agreement will be considered as expired. Exhibitor rents paid will be refunded by the DCRM. The participating exhibitor has no right of compensation for damages or reimbursement of incurred costs.

Article 5. Transparency

1. Information transfer and giveaways should be in accordance with the directives, as agreed by the Code Medicines Advertising and the Code of Conduct Medical Devices.
2. Exhibitors should be recognizable for participants of the Congress by wearing badges with name and company name. The DCRM will provide these badges.
3. Exhibitors from both the pharmaceutical and medical device industry are obliged to register in the Dutch Central Transparency Register.
